Agenda

- I. Welcome and Introductions
- II. Additions to the Agenda: none
- III. Announcements: none
- IV. Subcommittee Reports
 - A. Featured Teaching Librarian
 - Call for nominations is closed; there were 24 nominations this time around (up from 17 nominations last time). The subcommittee will be reaching out to the selected candidate and preparing the April post.
 - B. Selected Resources
 - The subcommittee has put together a document for collecting annotations for the selected resources. There are 6 assessment articles and 9 teaching methods articles. Committee members should review the criteria and instructions on the document and sign up to annotate articles; the document can be found in our shared Google folder, or via this link: <https://docs.google.com/document/d/1hyZhgEDJsVIEZLzoQTCRgF3AWPx9W7xuvNQhDp6cEwM/edit?usp=sharing>
 - Deadline to submit annotations is May 1
- V. Virtual Event
 - Veronica Douglas and Joanna Gadsby, authors of “Gendered Labor and Library Instruction Coordinators: The Undervaluing of Feminized Work” (<http://www.ala.org/acrl/sites/ala.org.acrl/files/content/conferences/confsandpreconfs/2017/GenderedLaborandLibraryInstructionCoordinators.pdf>) have been confirmed as this year's panelists.
 - Tentative date is April 11, 1-2pm ET
 - Next steps are:
 - Reserving WebEx (Elois Sharpe has been contacted; Erin will follow up if needed)
 - Schedule practice session in WebEx for moderators and panelists
 - Finalize publicity and circulate (Erin and Melissa will need to approve and secure Exec approval)
 - Finalize evaluation form for after the event
 - Subcommittee shared their planning document to solicit volunteers to moderate the panel and coordinate WebEx.

- Committee discussed the format of the event and decided on a 25-30 minute presentation by panelists followed by a semi-structured Q and A. The committee will brainstorm questions and share with panelists in advance of the virtual event. Members should add their questions to this document:
