2020 Executive Board Candidate Bio

Ann Ewbank

Associate Professor and Director, School Library Media Program
Montana State University
Bozeman, MT

Type of Library: Department of Education (School Library Educator)

Statement of Professional Concerns:

I prefer to call this section “Statement of Professional Opportunities,” because our association is on the precipice of a new chapter.

I have been fortunate to work in a public library as a paraprofessional, a school library, an academic library, and now as a school library educator and researcher. ALA is my professional home. I discovered the power of working collaboratively with others through our association early, and have been an active member-leader in ALA for nearly my entire library career. Because I have experience in multiple types of libraries, my perspective is informed by the notion of Libraries for a Lifetime, meaning that we all serve the same individuals, just at different times in their lives. As a result of the roles I have held in ALA, I have been fortunate to work across the association and closely with ALA staff. While I know quite a bit about various aspects of the association, I also know that I have much to learn.

We have an amazing opportunity to shape our association for decades to come. If we approach this opportunity thoughtfully and intentionally, and listen to all perspectives, I am confident that ALA’s organizational changes will result in a stronger, more resilient, and socially just association. As an executive board member, I will work toward breaking down the silos and hierarchies within ALA.

I will bring my personal values of communication, collaboration, and consensus to the table as we undertake this major organizational change. I will listen to understand and hold myself accountable. If elected, I hope that you will hold me accountable too. We have one chance to do this right. A stronger association will benefit members, libraries, and the individuals we serve.
